JOHN 12:20-33

In the Gospel from John, Jesus foretells His death and subsequent glorification. Jesus tells His disciples, 'Now the hour has come for the Son of man to be glorified. In truth I tell you, unless a wheat of grain falls to the earth and dies, it remains only a single grain, but if it dies it yields a rich harvest'. Jesus was to be the wheat grain that would die, and His death would yield a rich and great harvest for all. Jesus tells them, 'When I am lifted up from the earth, I shall draw all people to myself'. He is indicating His death on a cross. Jesus also gives us a warning. He states that, 'anyone who loves his life loses it; anyone who hates his life in this world will keep it for eternal life. Whoever serves me must follow me'. We are Christians and should live our lives in the knowledge that this temporal and short existence is only a preparation for our eternal destination with God. The only thing that we can hold onto in this life is love. The love we receive and the love we give to God and others. Everything else will be taken away from us. St Paul tells us that only love is eternal. We build our treasure in heaven through acts of love.

We follow Christ and, therefore, we follow Him to the cross. We all have our individual crosses in this life. Jesus embraced His cross in total obedience to His Father, in the knowledge that His death would bring about the defeat of death and evil. To follow Christ, we must have the strength and obedience to embrace our own personal cross in the knowledge that it is through the cross that we receive our salvation. There can be no resurrection without the cross.
